Library Advisory Committee, University

Charge

The Library Advisory Committee serves as the primary faculty, student, and staff advisory body to the Dean of the Library. Its primary roles include:

- Advising on funding needs necessary to efficiently provide the type and quality of services needed by the university community within the context of a research university environment.
- Advising on general policies related to the quality/depth of collections, services, instruction programs, and infrastructure, as well as on major new initiatives and assessment processes.
- Participating in strategic visioning with corresponding benchmarking criteria.
- Considering broad national issues pertinent to scholarly communication and open access, and communicating its perspectives, as appropriate, within and externally to the university.
- Facilitating communication with and obtaining feedback from the university community on library collections, programs, services, infrastructure, and communication mechanisms.

Open Access Publishing

As defined by SPARC, Open Access is "the free, immediate, online availability of research articles, coupled with the rights to use these articles fully in the digital environment."

The University Library’s Open Access Research Guide is an in-depth resource on the topic and also provides helpful information such as how to locate an OA publisher and how to participate in OA through self-archiving.

Publishing Discounts

The University Library supports Open Access publishing through memberships with the following organizations:

BioMed Central, Chemistry Central, and Springer Open.
- 15% discount on Article Processing Charges (APCs) when publishing with BioMed Central, Chemistry Central, and SpringerOpen journals.

Nucleic Acids Research
- Reduced page charge for publishing with Nucleic Acids Research, an Open Access journal published by Oxford.
- The reduced page charge rate is $1,365 (the non-member page charge is $2,770).

Royal Society
- 25% discount on APCs for Open Access articles published in Royal Society journals.
- This discount applies to both full open access journals such as Open Biology and hybrid journals that offer an "open choice" article publishing option.

American Chemical Society (ACS)
- ISU authors are eligible for discounts on articles that are published open access through ACS’s "AuthorChoice" program.
- This discount is available because the University Library is an "All ACS Publications" subscriber and this discount stacks with personal ACS membership discounts.

Royal Society of Chemistry
- ISU's RSC subscription provides a limited number of full waivers of the Open Access Article Publishing Fee (APF). Articles must have been accepted for publication by an RSC publication to be eligible. Please see RSC's Gold for Gold FAQs for more details.
- Please contact open@iastate.edu to receive a voucher code to enter in the "Gold for Gold" online acceptance form.

Questions

If you have questions about Open Access or the publishing discounts you can contact your subject librarian or the Office of Scholarly Communication.

Our Vision

The library, as the intellectual heart of Iowa State University, will be an open and engaging space that includes excellent information resources, unique and vibrant print and digital collections. Library staff will make the collections as accessible and open as possible to support life long learning and the pursuit, creation, sharing, and application of knowledge.
Do you have access to the scholarly research materials you need?

Do our students have the information literacy skills they need for success at Iowa State?

Are your own publications accessible through the Digital Repository @ Iowa State? Do you have an ORCID?

What can we do to better assist you and our students?
