February 20, 2019

Dear Students, Faculty, and Staff:

There is one week left to register for the annual Thomas L. Hill ISCORE: Iowa State Conference on Race and Ethnicity. The conference is scheduled from 8:15 a.m. – 5 p.m., Friday, March 1, in the Memorial Union.

ISCORE provides a forum to bring awareness to racial and ethnic issues on our campus, in our community, and across the country, and foster dialogue on diverse ideas and experiences in a safe, inclusive learning environment. The opening address will be given by Dr. Theressa Cooper, assistant dean for diversity in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences. Mr. Vernon Wall, director of business development for LeaderShape Inc., and president and founder of One Better World, will present the luncheon keynote. Participants will choose from a broad array of one-hour sessions to attend in the morning and afternoon. These sessions will be presented by students, faculty, and staff. The full schedule is available here.

I encourage you to join me and hundreds of your colleagues and classmates for this exceptional conference. Let’s work together and stand united in our goal to make Iowa State University a place where all individuals are welcome, included, and valued.

I hope to see you at ISCORE 2019!

Wendy Wintersteen
