Dear Students,

We understand the COVID-19 pandemic may be causing challenges or hardships for you and your families. Iowa State University's objective during this time has been to help all students make academic progress toward their degrees by balancing in-person learning with flexibility for students and instructors who are more comfortable with virtual classes.

We know these circumstances are not ideal and may not be sustainable for all students. That is why we are extending the deadlines for withdrawals and tuition adjustments for the fall 2020 semester.

- The deadline to withdraw and pay 50% of fall tuition has been extended from Friday, September 4, to Friday, September 25.
- The deadline to withdraw and pay 75% of fall tuition has been extended from Friday, September 11, to Friday, October 9.

The updated deadlines are available through the Office of the Registrar.

Your academic success, health, and wellness are important to us. Please consider taking advantage of resources through the Academic Success Center, including tutoring, supplemental instruction, and academic coaching, as well as health and wellness resources through Thielen Student Health Center, Student Counseling Services, and Student Wellness. In addition, the Office of Student Financial Aid stands ready to assist with any financial questions or challenges you may have.

We know this is an extraordinary time and a college education is a significant investment. We are here to support you in making the best decision for your personal needs.

Sincerely,

Wendy Wintersteen
